

ARTIST STATEMENT

As a painter and printmaker, I find inspiration in fragments of nature held close for reflection. I employ a personal vocabulary of fluid marks and organic imagery to express the sensual pleasure and ephemeral quality of the natural world. Within this realm, my work varies from representational to abstract, and I am continuously moving along the continuum between the two. I tend to work in series, either in regard to the materials used in creating my collagraph plates and prints, or in the exploration of a particular image.

Recently I have reconnected to my love of painting and have been exploring ways to connect painting and printing processes. Moving from stencils of plants, to actual plants used as stencils, I am exploring the dialogue between Photography and Painting, despite the fact that I am not using a camera. There is also a seasonal aspect to this process; I am using found plant material, and the availability changes with the seasons. The temporal quality of the material, alluding to the passage of time, and the ephemeral nature of the material itself, all speaks to a place in me that craves more connection to the natural world.

BIO

Cynthia MacCollum is a painter, printmaker, designer and mother of two who lives and works in New Canaan, CT. Her work has been shown at venues including The Center for Contemporary Printmaking in Norwalk, CT; The Avenue Gallery in Norwalk, CT; First Street Gallery in New York City, and online at The Road Gallery. In April 2013 two of her prints were awarded first prize in Works on Paper in the Spectrum show, the New Canaan Society for the Arts Annual Juried Exhibit. In June, 2013, Cynthia's work was selected by curator Donald Kuspit, one of 32 pieces out of thousands of submissions, to be part of the First Street Gallery National Juried Exhibit in New York City. Cynthia's solo exhibit, "Continuum", will open in August 2014 at the H. Pelham Curtis Gallery in New Canaan.

In April 2013, Cynthia became a member of New Canaan's Silvermine Guild. The artist is also a member of the Center for Contemporary Printmaking in Norwalk, CT; The New Canaan Society for the Arts in New Canaan, CT; and the Fairfield Artists Association, in Fairfield, CT. She graduated from Washington University in St Louis with a major in Art History and a minor in Fine Art. She has continued her studies at The Center for Contemporary Printmaking in Norwalk, CT; and at The Santa Reparata International School of Art, a three-week intensive printmaking program in Florence, Italy.

She has always been an artist, but early in her career, MacCollum spent five years in the Macy's training program pursuing retail management, and later embarked on a backpacking trip around the world. These experiences primed her to start her own business designing scarfs in 1993. Her first customer was Henri Bendel in New York, NY. The business grew quickly, and her scarves were sold at boutiques and department stores across the country, including Nordstroms and Bloomingdales. She created 100 unique scarf motifs annually. This business grew to encompass designing scarves for the Museum of Fine Arts, Boston; umbrellas for Totes; rugs for Homefires; and dishes and giftware for Sylvestri in conjunction with the Asia Society in New York, NY.

Cynthia MacCollum brings her design experience and raw creative talent to her work. Inspired by a self-imposed practice of creating one small painting a day, MacCollum has expanded upon the themes and ideas generated therein to build several new series of paintings and prints. Her most recent series, Continuum, examines the history of life on earth within a geologic time frame. The beauty of the forms that organic life has taken on earth is examined on a micro level in contrast to the macro scale of time. Incapsulated into the work is the idea of man as a part of nature, that we are nature, another part of the continuum of life on earth.
